ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

India's rapid urbanization has transformed cities into engines of growth, innovation, and opportunity. However, persistent gender disparities continue to shape women's access to employment, safety, housing, health services, mobility, and decision-making in urban spaces. Public finance, urban planning, and governance structures play a critical role in either reinforcing or reducing these inequalities.

This National Conference seeks to bring together scholars, policymakers, urban planners, financial experts, and development practitioners to engage in evidence-based discussions on advancing gender equity in urban India. The conference provides a multidisciplinary platform to examine policy frameworks, financing mechanisms, and institutional reforms required to create inclusive, safe, and gender-responsive cities, in alignment with national development priorities and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and Viksit Bharat @ 2047.

Conference Objectives

- To examine gender disparities in urban labour markets, infrastructure, and service delivery
- To explore gender-responsive budgeting and public finance tools at the city level
- To share research, best practices, and innovative models for inclusive urban governance
- To strengthen collaboration between academia, government, and development institutions
